ECONOMY DEBATE.

GOVERNMENT NARROWLY ESCAPES DEFEAT.

NASTY COALITION SHOCK.

LONDON, December 4.

Yesterday's division on Mr. McCurdy's estimate for the Food Ministry (mentioned in our earlier cables) is described as a nasty Coalition shock, the Government escaping defeat only after telephoning and sending messages to the clubs and private houses of Coalition members. Eventually Labour saved the position, all except one voting for the Government. Apparently Labour's attitude was that the Food Ministry was a protection against the profiteer. Later in the debate Mr. McCurdy assured the House that the Ministry in future would confine its activities on terminating Government control of commodities as soon as possible.

ARMENIAN SITUATION.

LEAGUE'S EFFORTS TO TERMINATE HOSTILITIES.

GENEVA, December 4.

Replying to the League of Nations Council's invitation to various Governments inviting co-operation to terminate hostilities in Armenia, Britain says that it cannot agree to an independent mission of mediation as proposed by President Wilson, but the President of the United States can count on Britain supporting his efforts and according him the moral and diplomatic support he requests. The Italian Government replied promising to communicate any decision it reaches.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE.

AMITY ESSENTIAL TO BOTH NATIONS.

PARIS, December 4.

A Havas message states that the papers are devoting special attention to a speech delivered by the former British Ambassador in Paris, Lord Derby, before the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Especially noticed is Lord Derby's statement that French and British amity is essential to both nations and that the time has come for them to conclude a formal alliance. It is admitted that Lord Derby is quite right when he states that the war would not have broken out if instead of the Entente there had been in 1914 a definite alliance. Lord Derby was especially emphatic in exposing the mischievous insinuations which are periodically circulated by a certain Press about the so-called imperialistic or aggressive tendencies of the French Government. Lord Derby stated that no French Cabinet inclining towards an aggressive policy of any sort could stand one single day. Such is the naked truth.

FRENCH NATIONAL LOAN.

MOST SANGUINE EXPECTATIONS EXCEEDED.

A GREAT RESPONSE.

PARIS, December 3.

A Havas message states that the results of great national loan just closed are not yet definitely known, but certain it is they are in excess of the most sanguine expectations. Some communities worked real financial wonders. Amongst the direst sights of the large broad belt of the war-stricken cities is that afforded by Lens, formerly a prosperous city in the heart of the French coal district. The Germans left it in 1918 a mere pile of blackened bricks. All around the collieries were systematically destroyed. Pits were flooded and shifts and machinery blown up and buildings gutted. The inhabitants were driven away or fled and scattered, but lost no time in coming back as soon as their native soil was freed. They built shanties and at once started work. Now slowly Lens is rising again from its ruins. Better days are looming up and the inhabitants have eagerly seized the opportunity afforded by the national loan to give to their beloved France out of their scanty means material token of their unshakable faith in her. The contributions of the inhabitants of Lens to the national loan aggregated 250,000.

"BEHEADED PORTRAIT."

PIQUANT DISPUTE.

MR. AUGUSTUS JOHN AND LORD
LEVERHULME.

In the Chenil Galleries, 183a, King's-road, Chelsea, S.W., there is—or was—a portrait with the head and part of the upper portion of the body of the sinner carefully cut away. It is the "beheaded" portrait of Lord Leverhulme by Mr. Augustus John, the picture which has led to such a piquant dispute between the Peer and the painter. In a series of letters which have passed between Lord Leverhulme and Mr. John, the former says that he cut the head of the portrait out with the intention of putting it in a safe after he had found that there was not room in the safe for the whole canvas without the frame and that the remainder of the picture was returned in mistake by his housekeeper. In another letter he asked Mr. John to dine with him. Mr. John, in seeking for an explanation of the treatment of his portrait, described the returning of the remainder of it as "the grossest insult I have ever received in the course of my career." So far as a reporter was able to judge, the picture had never been removed from its packing-case. The letters by which it is secured to the case show no sign of having been disturbed, and as they fit very tightly it seems probable that the brown paper inside the case would have become crumpled, if not torn, by the portrait being taken out. It would appear that the portion to be cut out was carefully marked off. Lines in red pencil or crayon were evidently drawn on the canvas as a guide. Traces of such lines can be seen easily. Roughly, 18 inches square has been removed. There remain part of the chest, the abdomen, the arms and hands, and the upper part of the thighs of a seated figure. From the contemplation of this beheaded portrait, which it is understood, Mr. John regarded as one of the best he has done, the reporter went to 28, Malford-street, Chelsea, and had a high-speed interview with the painter. "I don't want any more publicity about the affair," said Mr. John generally from behind his bushy beard. "I am fed up" and finished with it. "Besides, I have nothing fresh to say, and it takes up too much of my time." Also I have a sister waiting for me. "Why was I unable to accept Lord Leverhulme's invitation to dinner? Oh, that has nothing to do with the case."

CURING A COLD.

VARIED EXPERIENCES.

MAN WHO TRIED MANY REMEDIES.

It must have been for me an unguarded moment when, says a correspondent of a London paper, I blantly asked the group in the smoke room, "Anybody got a good cure for a cold?"

The effect was electrical. Earnest men, who had been working out racing form, laid down their "Horses Worth Following" and drew up their chairs.

Robinson, who had been explaining, almost with tears in his eyes, how his own faultless play at Auction the previous evening had been nullified by the cross stupidity of his partner, dropped the subject instantly and turned eagerly towards me. "All the others cleared their throats and made demonstrations of readiness to hold forth."

But Brown, like the ancient Mariner, held me with his glittering eye and I could not choose but hear him first.

"Go to bed," said he. "Go straight to bed and don't touch a drop of liquid of any sort for at least twenty-four hours. After that a few spoonfuls of cold water only. In less than two days you'll be —"

"Probably stone dead," interposed Robinson ruthlessly. "My dear chap," he continued to me, "you can't beat the old-fashioned remedies. Get a good fire in your bedroom, heap on the bed clothes, and drink a stiff glass of rum-punch, as hot as you can drink it, before getting into bed. In the morning you'll be —"

Words here failed him, but his expression gave me to understand that the morning after the foregoing operation I should probably be booking a passage to New York to knock pieces out of one Dempsey.

Higgins, who had driven a Volunteer Ambulance car in London for some time during the war, was inclined to be pontifical on account of his medical qualifications. He smiled superciliously.

"Aspirin," said he. "The best drug in the Pharmacopoeia." (I cannot say if he pronounced the latter word correctly. Frankly I don't know. But the fact that he had pluck enough to tackle it reveals in some degree how we, Britons, won the Great War.)

"One of the biggest specialists in Europe told me one day when I was chatting with him—he asked me for a loan of my cigarette lighter, in fact—that you can't go wrong with aspirin. I always carry a supply with me," continued Higgins.

He drew from his breast pocket a miscellaneous bundle of articles and searched for the magic drug. Great was his disappointment when neither there nor in any other pocket was it to be found. I was sorry for him, as I felt sure that his day was spoiled.

After that the conversation became general and I learned to my surprise that there is scarcely an article that cannot be employed in curing a cold. The most interesting of all the suggestions was a sulphur mud bath, but for that I should have to go to New Zealand, which I thought rather far. The most appalling cure of all those suggested was a boiled Spanish onion, loaded to the gunwale with red pepper.

Incidentally, I still have the cold.

"JUST SUPPOSE."

THE PRINCE IN A PLAY.

NOT FOR LONDON.

New Yorkers and Americans generally are excited over a pending play, entitled "Just Suppose." The hero, a thinly camouflaged Prince of Wales, visiting America, gives of his hide bound itinerary, and slips away to an old Virginia planter's home. There he falls in love with the pretty daughter. The British Ambassador hurries down, and vainly implores him to return. A peremptory cable from the King, however, recalls the Prince to a realisation of his duty, and he departs in a giant battleship, after a moonlit leave taking in an orchard. Patricia Collins will play the heroine. Geoffrey Kerr, son of Frederick Kerr, has sailed from London for New York to play the part of the Prince. No application has been made in Britain, but the Lord Chamberlain would undoubtedly refuse a licence for the play in England.

LOVE AND CRIME FILMED.MURDER OR ADVENTURE?*THE CENSOR'S DEFENCE OF MORALITY.An interesting report on the work of the British Board of Film Censors has just been issued over the signature of Mr. T. P. O'Connor, the President, and Mr. J. Brooke Wilkinson, the Secretary, who state that "at the request of the Paper Controller, no report of the Board's activities was issued during the last years of the war."During the war, at the instance of the War Office and the War Trade Department, the Board undertook the censorship of films intended for export and continued to do so until regulations were annulled. The work was done gratuitously, and the total length of films handled was 87,719,479 feet valued at £1,201,903. In expressing its thanks the Army Council put it on record that the loyal co-operation of the Board had greatly simplified
the work of preventing the leakage from Britain of information prejudicial to the Allied cause, and at the same time enabled the legitimate circulation of films to be carried on with the minimum of hardship to those engaged in the trade.As regards censorship generally, the report states that the tendency is for the subject to become of increasing difficulty and complexity. The Board is guided by the main broad principles that nothing should be passed which is calculated to demoralise an audience; that can teach methods of or extenuate crime;
that can undermine the teachings of morality; that tend to bring the institution of marriage into contempt or lower the sacredness of family ties.Objection is taken to incidents which bring public characters into contempt when acting in their capacity as such, together with subject which might be calculated to wound the susceptibilities of foreign peoples. The question of religious observance is very carefully considered, also subjects which are calculated to foment violent social unrest. While it is impossible to ensure that poetic justice should always overtake evildoers, the Board has considered it essential that no halo should be placed round the heads of the delinquents or criminals.Subjects dealing with the "triangle" theme are numerous, and frequently require the most careful consideration owing to the complicated nature of the story. The report points out that there is a distinction to be drawn between errors caused by love, even if guilty love, and the pursuit of lust, and the examiners always endeavour to eliminate any manifestations of the latter character. The betrayal of young women is a question which depends upon the treatment. When the subject is treated with restraint it seems impossible to exclude it as a basis for a story. Objection, however, is taken when the treatment issuch as suggest that a girl is morally justified in succumbing to temptation in order to escape sordid surroundings or uncongenial work.One of the most difficult questions is that of "crime" films which make a strong appeal to the imagination of the public. According to the Board these films threaten to become a danger to the reputation of the cinema. For a while the examiners found themselves flooded with films,
in some cases running to 20 episodes,
in which inhuman monsters using all kinds of mysterious methods of assassination were to be shown week by week over a long period. The Board found the evil assuming such proportions that it was decided that no serial dealing with crime should be examined except as a whole, that no serial in which crime was the dominant feature and not merely an episode in the story would be passed by the Censor, and that no film should be passed in which the methods of crime were set forth and formed the chief theme. This rule is to be applied even in cases where at the end of the film retribution is supposed to have fallen on the criminals, and equally when the detective element is subordinate to the criminal interest, or when actual crime is treated from the comic point of view.
Stories dealing with "costume"
crime, however, such as cowboy films and Mexican robberies are placed in a different category and regarded simply as dramatic and thrilling adventure with no connection whatever with the lives or possible experiences of young people in Britain.In endeavouring to check indecorum in dress no figure is passed in which the dress appears to be meant to be indecent or suggestive.
With regard to films dealing with venereal disease and the white slave traffic, the Board has decided to withhold its certificate from all such subjects, even when they have been dealt with on the stage or are matters of public discussion at the moment.During last year the total of film submitted for censorship was 6,233,155ft., embracing 2,311 subjects, of which 1,454 have been passed for universal exhibition, 829 have been passed for public exhibition with a restrictive certificate, while 28 films have been entirely rejected. The examiners have taken exception to 253 films, which number is largely in excess of any previous years, proving that the films have become of a more complex nature, requiring even more thought and consideration in the part of the examiners than heretofore. There has been decrease in the total footage submitted for censorship, which is attributed to the tendency on the part of manufacturers, especially in America, to produce fewer subjects, but to increase considerably the capital expenditure on each production.AMERICAN FABRICATED SHIPS.Of the three yards called into being during the period of the war to build fabricated ships in America only one is bent upon continuing in the business and planning to amplify its facilities. The Submarine Boat Corporation has taken over from the Government the great plant of the Newark Bay shipyard upon a four-year lease with the right to acquire permanent possession at the end of that tenure. Further, the programme provides for extensive development of both the yard and its immediate neighbourhood, with the idea of making that point a port of entry and departure which will be equipped with unloading facilities of the most approved design, so that incoming and outgoing freight can be dealt with without delay in moving to and from the several trans-continental railways focussing nearby.The purpose is also to supplement the existing shipbuilding establishment by creating dry docks and other repair conveniences, and to make it practicable to cut down to a minimum the turn-around period of freight steamers, so that vessels using that base may be operated under conditions that will bring in the largest possible return upon the allied ventures. In brief, the determination is to put to profitable account, in the various departments of maritime industry, the lessons learned through that system of co-ordination which made the fabricated cargo craft possible.The steamers constructed at the Newark Bay shipyard have made excellent records for themselves, taking their service performances by and large, and they have demonstrated that the methods of the bridge builder can be applied effectively, economically, and successfully in the realm of marine architecture. The standpipe test of 34½ ft. has in no wise taxed the men who have in the past fashioned steel flumes for waterpower projects in which the hydrostatic heads were of 1,000 ft. and more.
The assistant manager of the Division of Construction and Repair of the United States Shipping Board has recently stated that the hulls of the steamers produced at Newark Bay are recognised as among the best built of any of the freighters now in service.Reports made by masters and chief engineers of these particular craft reveal the soundness of the hulls and their unusual tightness and freedom from leakage in the cargo bilges, &c.
This has been especially evidenced when some of the craft have been dry-docked with their liquid fuel tanks filled. Without exception there has been no external indication of seepage despite the searching character of oil—EngineeringNOTICES.*G. FALCONER & CO., LTD.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, DEC. 6, 1920.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE.

The war, as everybody knows, upset international finance. The conditions have grown worse instead of better since the Peace Treaty. Directly and indirectly, says Sir George Paish, in a report to Lloyds Bank, the failure to fix the amount of reparation at a figure which Germany can and will pay, is one of the chief causes of the fact that the economic situation has grown worse than it was before the war ended. If that be so, we need not look for much help from the Financial Conference at Brussels, from whose discussions the question of reparation was barred. Five experts have studied the situation at the request of the Secretariat of the League of Nations. In the main they were agreed. They all desiderate the earliest possible stoppage of the inflation of credit and currency, in which, we may point out, our own country has been a conspicuous offender. Our note issue has increased 335 millions sterling in six years. Government spending simply must be cut down. Here again Mr. George's Government has perhaps been the most flagrant waster of the lot. Every issue of Truth tells the story. Running shows at less than cost, and paying subsidies on particular commodities and services, must be abolished before credit and finance can be put on a safe basis. Naval and military outlays must be stringently restricted, whereas they have been lavish on extra side shows since the big war finished. Ordinary current requirements are being met out of loans. This has to be stopped. Artificially low bankrates, out of conformity with the actual scarcity of real money, are maintained by the creation of new currency—which is merely another way of signing chits. Floating debts should all be funded as soon as practicable. The exchange rates correspond fairly accurately with the relative internal values of the several countries, and thus we discover that our own is low. The finding of floating debts held in note form abroad, and the restoration of normal trade intercourse, would tend to correct the exchange rates. Sir George Paish does not altogether go far on the quantitative theory of money, that which says a free paper issue forces up prices. The Bank does not identify itself with all his opinions, although it publishes them, and presumably his opinion on this point is one it would not endorse. For though the relation of supply and demand affects prices regardless of the nature of the currency in which they are expressed, it is impossible to deny the visible effect of an unlimited issue of paper. Freights went down when there was a supply of bottoms to more than cover the demand, although we still had our deluge of Bradburys; but that does not disprove the quantitative theory. With a gold currency, they would probably have fallen lower. It may be that continental countries have enormously inflated their currencies, without suffering a much higher cost of living than we do; but that does not entitle us to overlook the fact that we led the way in initiating and carrying on and expanding what we may call the chit system of currency. Artificial devices to adjust trade balances (such as we had between England and America) effect only a temporary and unreliable stability of exchange, as it is obvious they must do. Deflation of an inflated currency will do it much more surely, although (so susceptible are the markets to every interference) this might mean a temporary aggravation of the nuisance of inflated prices, and some suffering to the poor. But here we have to ask if the deflation of an inflated currency involves a decrease of domestic buying power, and consequently of international buying power? It should not, anyone that the buying power of a Hongkong man arriving in London is decreased because he finds himself with one sovereign instead of four or five dollars. The golden pound would undoubtedly buy more than the paper Bradbury, at Home or abroad, once it was realized that we were indeed back into sterling, raving in cash instead of in chits. Thus deflation of inflated currencies is really an essential first step, coupled (of course) with the primary need of greater production of necessities. For that is the long and short of the world's economic distress at bottom. For four years, production diminished (by the engagement of the producers in war or war work) and a positive waste of products went on for a like period. We have to restore the wastage, and catch up again. Meanwhile, until we get an economical government, instead of one that prints money like the Bolsheviks, and spends it as if there were no end to it, we are unlikely to get back to solvency. America wasted much money in war-time, but unlike our own country, she had the sense to stop when the war was over. Her wasters were admonished; ours are decorated. Professor Cassel of Switzerland tells us that in any case the world will never get back to the pre-war parities (of exchange) and that we shall have to accustom ourselves to look upon the new purchasing power parities yet to be established as the true parities. Those who have gambled on currencies getting back to pre-war exchange values have backed a loser.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. T. A. Bersey, Acting Inspector of Shipwrights, Devonport, has been appointed Inspector of Shipwrights, Hongkong.

Lieut. Colonel A. Reiss, O.B.E. of Messrs. Reiss & Co., accompanied by Mrs. Reiss, arrived in Hongkong yesterday by the P. & O. "Sicilia."

Among the goods carried on October 20 by the Handley Page air mail to Amsterdam were packages containing 200 lb. of women's "transformations" or human hair, imported from China. The net value of the consignment was £1,350.

The Tea House Guild, reorganized, one of the largest and most influential trade unions in Canton, has been formally registered by the Government. The tea house is a very popular institution in Canton, and patronized by many persons, providing work for more than 30,000 men.

President Elect Harding has cabled a vernacular paper in Manila as follows: "I shall send a commission from the United States Congress to study insular conditions in 1921. I regret I cannot come personally. I wish the Filipinos to trust America. Your interests are bound up with ours."

The death is announced, with great regret, of Mr. W. Turner Stevens, chief accountant of the Kailan Mining Administration, which occurred on November 25 from small-pox. By his death the K.M.A. has lost a most valuable and efficient servant who had been identified with its interests for nearly twenty years.

The United States gunboat "Helena," which left Nagasaki a fortnight ago for Vladivostok, was caught in a storm when about 450 miles from Nagasaki and lost one of her propellers. She had to put back to Nagasaki consequently, and managed to reach port. A propeller will be sent from Manila to replace the one lost.

There is a large and growing demand for perfumery and toilet requisites in China. The value of the imports last year amounted to £776,182. The wealthy Chinese women use perfumery and toilet articles lavishly, and the demand is growing among those Chinese, men and women, who are brought into contact with foreigners.

A small clasp pin of platinum and diamonds, shaped somewhat like a two-leaved clover, was lost in the City Hall on Tuesday night, November 30. The following articles were found:—(1) A black lace veil; (2) A white silk crepe shawl embroidered with white silk; and (3) A small round silver powder box with puff. These articles may be recovered from, and any information regarding the lost article sent to, Mr. T. W. Hill, Hon. Secretary, St. Andrew's Society, Care of Bradley and Co., Ltd.

Among the passengers who arrived in Hongkong by the P. & O. "Sicilia" yesterday were Mr. C. McI. Messer, O.B.E., Colonial Treasurer; Mr. Claxton, Director of the Royal Observatory, with Mrs. Claxton; Mrs. Kemp, wife of the Attorney-General with children; Mr. and Mrs. Diss and family; Mr. Stephens, of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank; Mr. and Mrs. Raven and family; Mr. J. Tully of the Asiatic Petroleum Co. with Mrs. Tully and family; and Mr. De Harvey, of the United Asbestos.

A successful confidence trick was yesterday practised on a Chinese married woman living at No. 9, Jardine's Bazaar. While the woman was crossing the Bowring Canal bridge, she was accosted by a man who produced a roll which he said contained notes, and told her that as he was a stranger he did not know where to get the money changed. While she was giving the necessary directions another man approached and suggested that she should buy the notes from the stranger, a proposal to which she agreed. She then handed them £2.10 in money and jewellery to the value of £22.50 and took the bundle of notes. After the men had departed, she examined the bundle and found that it contained the usual worthless paper.

A propos of the recent campaign over "Chinese dens" in the East End of London, a Chinese correspondent points out, in the course of a letter to a London contemporary, that, had the campaign been confined to the suppression of gambling and opium dens, it would have won the thanks of all law-abiding Chinese. He adds that those who are offended with mixed marriages in Britain should know that there are far more half-castes in China than in Great Britain as a result of mixed unions, legal or otherwise. As for the opium dens, he states that the imaginary extension of these dens to the West End and Hampstead, where a few students are staying, is as fictitious as the tale of the headquarters gang directing operations from Peking or Hongkong. Furthermore, the plausibility of a published picture, which purports to represent the interior of an opium den, suffers by the fact that the Chinese are represented with pistols which they have not worn for years.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE WAR MEMORIAL.

[To the Editor of the "China Mail"]

Sir,—When first the writer learned that a Memorial worthy of Our Honoured Dead was to be erected on the "finest site in the Colony" he said to himself that this was far and away too good to be true. That all these dollars were to be squandered by the Hongkong Public merely to perpetuate an idea was unthinkable. Now the same Public—running again to form—have in meeting assembled turned down the Memorial as a Memorial; and we are now to have some kind of a Nursery-Club-Pub, which will perpetuate nothing but the activities of the Y.M.C.A. and the cleverness of their management in embracing an exceptional opportunity to exploit the utilitarianism of the age.

It would be interesting to know what local intellect first evolved the fine idea of a simple Memorial, and how the Government was induced to give the "finest site" away without return for an ideal. Why, somebody must have done some thinking. They must have said to themselves—What then is a memorial? Let us all ask of ourselves that question. Sit down to it. Take your head in your hands. Give your brains a chance, and you'll get the only possible answer.

A Memorial is just a Memorial;—that and nothing more. If it is anything else, or attached, enclosed, surrounded, encumbered, associated with anything else it is not a Memorial. If it is a Hospital, or a Hall, or a Club, or a Pub, or a Home for Lost Hogs, Dogs, or Sailors (God bless 'em!) then it is not a Memorial, but merely a Club, Pub, or the others as case may be.

The first and foremost attribute of a Memorial is that it must be of no use whatsoever. It must be merely something for remembrance, something in Memoriam, something—"Let Us Forget." It must be tainted with no least tincture of charity, it must be cursed by no atmosphere of conviviality, it must be soiled by no sordid utilitarianism whatsoever. It must be of the spirit—spiritual, a thing apart. It must be of inspired design, but—at least in the case of this community—not cheap. This community can't take a million dollar site and erect a ten thousand dollar stone on it and preserve its self-respect.

Why, every little hamlet and parish in the old country has its simple stone grave with the names of its heroes. And distinct from its Village Institute or Pub, believe me. Clubs and heroes don't mix: not dead heroes: not heroes such as ours, at any rate.

Take all the famous Memorials in the world, and just name me one that is of any use. Napoleon's Tomb in Paris—why you can't get even a lemonade or a "gasper" in the precincts. The Statue of Liberty, New York—might have been a horse-trough in Hongkong. What! Jan van Coen's statue in Batavia—the finest bronze the old Dutch founders ever turned out. What does the Colonial Dutchman get out of it except uplift?

No, do the right thing and scrap all these little brass nonentities that squat in Statue Square, and erect a War Memorial of which we could be soberly proud. (The present tin soldiers cut being of heroic size have no artistic right to be in the open anyway. A niche in the staircase of the new Y.M.C.A. is their proper abiding place.)

There is at least one man—perhaps two—in the Colony who could be trusted to give us a design to fill the bill, but when you think of who are the likely ones to sit in judgment, help!

What we want is something that will be a graceful, grey shadow by day, and a pale flame of victory under our tropic stars. Something you can salute as you go by. You can't salute a pub—not even a tea-total one run by the Y.M.C.A. Much more likely to go in and salute the bar boy.

And all you plutocrats, aristocrats, Peakites, Lower Levellers, Kowloonists, Sailors, Soldiers, Europeans, Asiatics, Dwellers in this favoured Isle, and you and me—let us remember that if it had not been for those dear dead boys we would all be now so blamed busy learning German we would have no time to call our souls our own.

By all means let the Services, the Civilian, and everybody, and you and me have all the Clubs and social amenities possible, but Don't Knock The War Memorial.

Yours faithfully,
JAMES DALZIEL,
Hongkong, Dec. 4th 1920.

[To the Editor of the "China Mail"]

Sir,—A good many people know nothing about the Young Men's Christian Association except its name, and from this they judge that it is an organization for the furtherance of the Christian religion. This idea would prevent some of them from subscribing towards the erection of a Y.M.C.A. building, and it is a pity, therefore, that H.E. the Governor (as he so often does) dropped his voice at the pithy end of a certain sentence in his speech at the recent meeting in the City Hall. The gist of His Excellency's remark,

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

'OUTWARD BOUND' APPEARS.

EXCELLENT LIST OF WRITERS.

An attractive magazine, Outward Bound, has just made its appearance in England, and a copy has been received by the China Mail. What it seeks, it says, is "a real understanding of other races and nations," and what it endeavours to do is to "help discover a way through the great international and inter-racial problems with which the men and women who live in this twentieth century are faced. This central aim of realizing a world-wide Kingdom of God will be steadfastly followed in the pages of Outward Bound."

Its crew of writers, it adds, "is gallant and gay—John Buchan, de Vere Stacpoole, Rabindranath Tagore, Mary Johnston, Alfred Noyes, Beatrice Harraden, John Drinkwater, Jerome K. Jerome, Mark C. Doy, C. M. Brock, Ernest Prater and their like."

The present number has an interesting list of contents: "The Path of a King," by John Buchan; "Our Lane," by Rabindranath Tagore; "Why not and the World," by Mary Johnston; and articles on "Red Indians at Home," "Fighting Disease on a World Scale," "The Tiger from Blacktown," "Musical Echoes from Old Japan," "An Indian Travelling Theatre Party," "Building Roads to Bagdad," and other subjects.

"We shall travel round the World to catch living pictures of the wonder and drama of the real life of people to-day," says the Editor, and judging by the cordial welcome accorded the first number, this intention has been well carried out and the success of the new publication is assured.

'THE EMPIRE MAIL.'

SPECIAL ARTICLES OF INTEREST.

The October number of "The Empire Mail," just received by the China Mail, contains timely articles on subjects of importance to all interested in the trade of the world—especially the trade of the Empire. A leading article on "The Revival of German Industry" shows that German competition is again menacing British trade, and points out that reports from special correspondents contain a serious message of warning for the British people. "American Trade Competition" is the subject of a vigorous article by Mr. F. A. McKenzie, the well-known author and traveller, who predicts the flooding of the world's markets with American surplus products. There is also an editorial on "America's Bid for Empire Trade," which points to the alarm felt by business men in many parts of the Empire at the inroads made by American trade.

Other features of special interest are an editorial on "Research in Industry," an article on "The Tea Industry," by "Yugoslavia," by Mr. W. B. Forster Bevil, revealing the commercial needs and possibilities of the new State; "Trade with Chile," by Mr. David W. Caddick; and the reports from special correspondents.

POSTPONED BAZAAR.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

ANNUAL FETE NEXT SUNDAY.

As announced in Saturday's China Mail and by "expresses" delivered at all the clubs and offices and distributed outside the various churches yesterday, the Committee of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul decided on Saturday morning to postpone the Fete owing to the unsettled state of the weather. Even if the weather had improved on Saturday evening, it was considered that the grounds would not be in a satisfactory condition in view of the large crowds which congregate each year at this fete. The Committee has since been generally congratulated on its wise decision. The postponement will, of course, entail expense, but the success of next Sunday's fete will doubtless more than justify the postponement.

Twenty-one days' hard labour was the sentence passed by Magistrate Orme this morning on two Chinese who admitted stealing several pieces of wood from the reclamation at Kowloon. Both men declared that they were unaware that the wood was Government property.

which the reporters did not catch, was that he revised his opinion of the Y.M.C.A. on seeing its work in Ceylon and finding that most of its members were Mohammedans.

"The fact is that, whatever the word 'Christian' in the title may have meant originally, it now refers not to religious dogma, but to morality and behaviour; and no one (whether Jew, Mohammedan, Parsee, Confucian, Hindu, or Atheist) need hesitate on religious grounds to support it."

Yours faithfully,

HOUSE COLLAPSES.

COOLIES BURIED ALIVE.

TRAGEDY IN WANCHAI THIS MORNING.

A number of coolies were buried alive in Wanchai soon after 8.30 this morning when the retaining wall of the ground floor of house No. 114, Queen's Road East, suddenly collapsed, bringing down with it the walls of the other floors, and part of the roof.

On receiving the alarm, the police and Sanitary Board coolies hastened to the scene and were soon hard at work removing the debris in order to rescue those buried underneath. After strenuous labour, three badly injured men were dug out and rushed off to the hospital. As the work proceeded, mangled limbs and badly crushed bodies of more unfortunate men who were killed in the accident were brought to light. These gruesome remains were bundled up in matting and removed in Sanitary dead carts to the public mortuary for identification, should such be possible. By noon to-day three injured men and five dead bodies had been dug out, while a sixth was just visible as the debris was shoveled away.

Some months ago this house was condemned by the P.W.D., and was not supposed to be occupied. It was, therefore, impossible to ascertain how many people were on the ground floor at the time of the collapse, as a gang of coolies, unknown to the owner of the house or to the P.W.D., has seemingly been in the habit of taking refuge from the cold of the streets by stealing into the ground floor of the house and sleeping there. The discovery of Chinese playing cards among the debris, would suggest that some of the unfortunate men were awake and indulging in a little gamble when the accident occurred.

LATE MR. A. G. GORDON.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON.

HIS LIFE IN HONGKONG.

The funeral of Mr. Alexander Grant Gordon, one of the oldest European residents of Hongkong, who during his long residence in the Colony was identified at one time or another with most of its institutions, takes place this afternoon. He will be buried in Happy Valley, the Rev. G. J. Williams officiating. The funeral will pass the Monument at 4.45 p.m.

Mr. Gordon died in Bombay on June 21. He had been ill for many weeks, and having recovered sufficiently, left the Colony on the "Novara," bound for Home to take a course of treatment at one of the English watering places. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gordon and Miss J. Gordon. Approaching Bombay he took a turn for the worse and was removed to a hospital, where he passed away a few days later. His body was cremated, and the remains have been brought to Hongkong.

In the death of Mr. Gordon, the Colony lost one of its best known members, and one who by reason of his long residence here was a link with the early history of the island. He was born in 1852, educated at Glasgow, and trained on the Clyde as an engineer. He came to Hongkong 43 years ago.

He joined, as superintendent, the new defunct China and Manila Steamship Company, and in this capacity had to do with such well known passenger carriers of the day as the "Diamant" and "Pella." About twenty-three years later he went Home to superintend the building of the company's vessels "Zafiro" and "Rubi," both of which became well known.

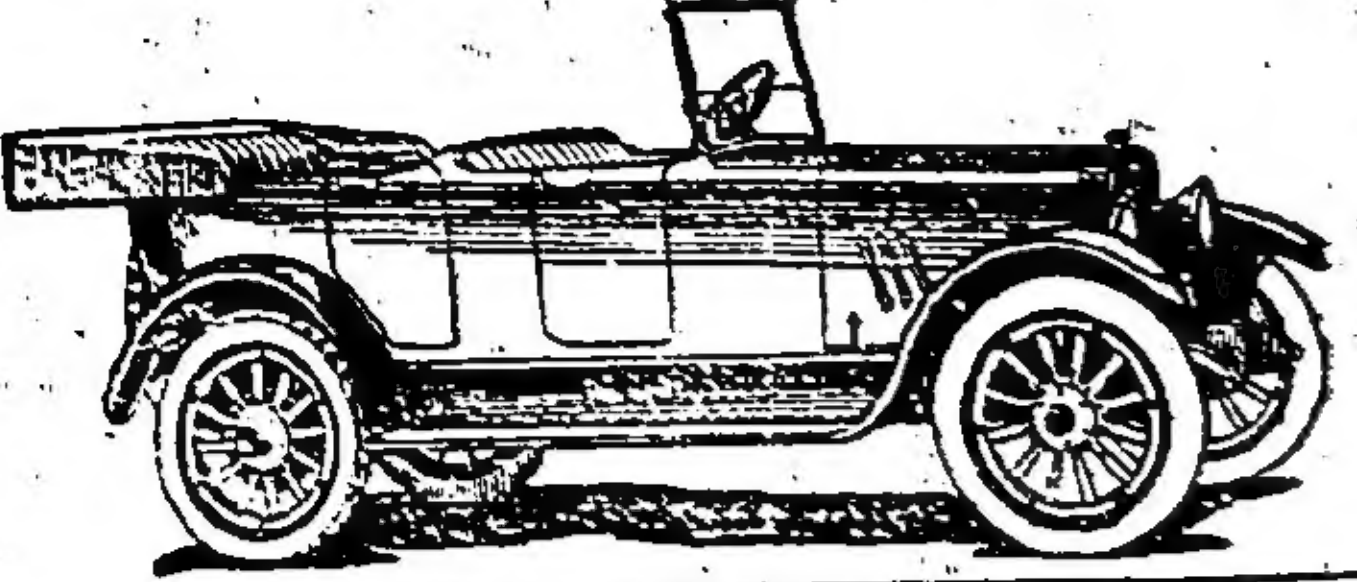

He was connected with the Brick and Tile Works at Deep Water Bay as consulting engineer. In addition, he held other appointments, among them that of surveyor of the Marine Board of Underwriters of Philadelphia and San Francisco. He was a member of the Institute of Navy Architects and the Institute of Marine Engineers. Under the Hongkong Government he was surveyor of boilers of private steamships under sixty tons. He was also a Justice of the Peace. At the time of his death he was the head of Messrs. Gordon & Co., of St. George's Building, which he had founded, and was general manager of the Hongkong Steel Foundry Co., Ltd.

Socially, Mr. Gordon was equally active, and "Tor Crest," his home on the Peak, was the scene of much entertaining. He was one of the early presidents of St. Andrew's Society. During the war he did much for the Red Cross and other funds, being one of the conveners of the Heather Day and St. Andrew's Fair, the most successful of the St. Andrew's Society's War efforts. Just before he left on the journey which ended in his death, he was promoting this "Crookes Club." He was also a member and keen supporter of the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders.

ARMED ROBBERY:CHINESE SHOP HELD UP.*THIEVES DISGUISED.

A daring robbery is reported by the master of a Chinese shop at Sheungtsui who has informed the police that about 7 p.m., on Friday, while he and his wife were sitting in the shop after having closed for the night, someone opened the door and entered under the pretext of making some purchases. While the customer was being attended to, three men with their faces covered with white cloths rushed into the shop. The supposed customer then produced a revolver, and one of the other men exhibited a dagger. The intruders drove the complainant and his wife into the kitchen where they locked them in while they ransacked the shop, stealing clothing, jewellery, provisions and money to the total value of $143.

DISHONEST RICSHA COOLIE.PARCEL STOLEN.*AMERICAN SAILOR'S COMPLAINT.

John McLennan, a seaman of the United States Navy, yesterday afternoon engaged a ricksha at Spring Garden Lane to take him to the Star Ferry wharf. When near the Naval Canteen, he stopped the ricksha in order to purchase a box of matches. While his back was turned, the coolie walked away with a parcel of cigarettes which he had left in the vehicle. When he discovered what had happened, the sailor, who had been victimised in a similar manner before, and had this time taken the precaution to note the number of the vehicle before he left it, "hiked" out in search of the offender, whom he eventually found some distance away. At the police station the coolie and his vehicle were searched but nowhere could the cigarettes be found. As the sailor insisted that there could be no possibility of a mistake, the coolie was locked up and this morning brought before Magistrate Smith on a charge of larceny. The defendant swore that he had never seen Jack McLennan before, and pleaded mistaken identity. The Magistrate did not believe him, and imposed a fine of $25 or one month's hard labour.

GAMBLING EVIL.SUPPRESSION IN CANTON.*MACAO NEXT?

In order to lessen the gambling evil in South China, Kwangtung will procure the aid of the governments of Hongkong and Macao, says the Canton Times. The Canton Government has issued an invitation to the Hongkong and Macao authorities for a conference in order that a uniform policy may be established regarding the matter and co-operation, obtained for the enforcement of laws prohibiting gambling.

Hongkong has prohibited gambling for a long time, and Canton has just abolished the traffic as a measure for revenue. Macao still permits and licenses gambling, however; but the Cantonese believe that the authorities of that port will soon follow the policy of Hongkong and Canton, as Portugal is a Christian country and will, undoubtedly, be in favour of action to be taken to end a traffic which breeds idleness, theft, and other crime.

Many former gamblers in Canton are talking of renewing business in Macao, where they think many habitual gamblers will play now that they have been forbidden in Canton.

The Cantonese officials believe that the authorities in Macao, like those in Hongkong, are also anxious to see the improvement of the conditions in the great province and that they will confer with them on matters which will prove mutual interest.

WHY MR. JENKIN CAME BACK.NO QUARTERS.

Referring to the refusal of Mr. F. G. Jenkin to take up the appointment of Public Prosecutor in the Straits Settlements, for which he went to Malaya, the Singapore Free Press says it was a question of quarters, the government being unable to supply these, and Mr. Jenkin not liking the appearance of living costs down there.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Another clean bill of health was returned for the Colony on Saturday.

The manager of a Chinese firm carrying on business at No. 64, Bonham Strand West, has reported to the police that a folk whom he sent out on Saturday to collect debts amounting to about $900 has not been seen since.

The total output of the Kailan Mining Administration's mines for the week ending November 20, 1920, amounted to 77,972 tons and the sales during the period, to 76,643 tons.

Canton's "Big Three"—Dr. Wu Tingfang, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, has enrolled as members of the Canton Y.M.C.A. and commented favourably on the activities of this institution, not only in Canton, but also in other Chinese cities.

In the course of a paper, entitled "British Trade with India," read by Mr. T. M. Ainscough (H.M. Senior Trade Commissioner in India and Ceylon) before the Indian Section of the Royal Society of Arts, Mr. Ainscough pointed out that British goods were virtually unchallenged in India prior to the war but Japanese manufacturers had an opportunity for expansion during 1914-18 which was without parallel in industrial history. Although Japan was at present experiencing a severe check in the Indian market and her overseas trade was dislocated owing to the inevitable domestic crisis following the financial crisis caused by the war, there was little doubt that she would continue to be an important factor in Indian trade. Japan, in fact, had a unique opportunity during the war of capturing the Indian market in many lines of trade, but partly on account of inexperience and faulty methods and her financial crisis, she was losing the ground gained.

OLD POST OFFICE.NO BIDS RECEIVED.*LAND WITHDRAWN FROM SALE.

The old Post Office was put up for sale this afternoon at the P.W.D. offices by Mr. E. B. Reed, Principal Land Surveyor, in the presence of a fair number of persons, including the Director of Public Works, the Hon. Mr. W. Chalmers. The sale was opened at the upset price of $1,906,000 but no bids were made and the site was withdrawn from sale.

The site will now be sold privately or will be put up for auction again in whole or in part as the Government may decide.

The area of the site is about 38,120 square feet, the upset price $1,906,000, and the annual rental $4,376. The minimum bid to be accepted by the auctioneer was set at $1,000.

Under the amplified condition of sale, as announced in Saturday's Gazette, it was provided that immediately after the fall of the hammer the purchaser should sign the memorandum of agreement completing the purchase. Within three days he must pay $250,000, and the balance within six months, with interest at 7 per cent on any balance outstanding after three months.

Plans must be submitted within eight months for the erection of buildings. These buildings must be ready within three years after the passing of the plans, and shall consist of one or more permanent non-domestic buildings of stone or brick. They shall occupy at least a part of the lot. The purchaser shall spend not less than $572,000 in rateable improvements. In the event the plans are not passed within three months of the date of their submission, the three years allowed for the completion of the buildings shall commence on the expiration of three months from the date the plans are submitted.

The money will be forfeited and the Government may enforce the sale or "resell" the land, in the event the conditions are not complied with. The purchaser will be given possession of the lot on January 1, except the portion recently occupied by Walkin's dispensary, which will be handed over, three months later, the purchaser meanwhile receiving the rent. The purchaser has to demolish the present buildings within eight months (of date of sale). The new buildings are not to be more than 125 feet high, and verandahs may be erected over the footpaths not more than three storeys on the Queen's Road side.

DRAMATIC ARREST.JEWELS IN BAGGAGE.*FORMER SHANGHAI RESIDENT STOPPED AT SEATTLE.

Robert L. Ward, well known in Shanghai business circles has been arrested by the Federal authorities at Seattle on a charge of having stolen a considerable amount of jewellery which was found in his baggage and which, it is alleged, was stolen in Shanghai. Five informations of obtaining money by false pretences, embezzlement and forgery have also been lodged against him in the United States Court for China in Shanghai.

Three of the charges filed are for alleged embezzlement of money and jewellery valued at $29,000, which were entrusted to him by Mr. C. Y. Chang, secretary and treasurer of the Shanghai Motors Corporation, a company which Ward organised and of which he was the principal. The fourth information charges him with having obtained, by false representations, a letter of credit for $20,000 shortly before he left for America, where he was arrested.

The fifth information alleges that he forged a letter to the American Consulate asking for permission to allow a Chinese to enter the United States and qualifying that he was a business man whereas he had been a "boy" at a local hotel.

Ward left Shanghai for Seattle a few weeks ago ostensibly on a business trip and simultaneously with his arrest, the five informations were filed against him. When arrested he told the authorities that he could explain to the Chinese secretary how he came possessed of the articles found in his baggage and the subject of three of the informations. He also claimed that he served in the anti-Bolshevik army of Kolchak in Siberia.

His arrest has come as a surprise to many people of the business fraternity to whom, as stated, he was well-known. He first came to Shanghai two years ago and was connected with a bank but he eventually severed his connection with it and branched into a motor business, the Shanghai Motors Corporation which he organised. Quite recently, he gained some notoriety in the American Court where he was charged with assaulting Mr. Everett C. Endt, after a fight in the Burlington Hotel, in September, but the charge was withdrawn after a preliminary hearing.

SHOT IN A BANK.INDIAN WATCHMAN WOUNDED.*EXCITEMENT IN THE CITY.

Great excitement prevailed in the City this afternoon shortly after 2.30 when a revolver shot was heard in the vicinity of the Chartered Bank. It soon became known that an Indian armed guard had accidentally shot himself with his revolver. He was immediately removed on a stretcher ambulance to the hospital where he now lies in a dangerous condition.

Mr. Burlingham, A.S.P., was soon on the scene of the accident and superintended the removal of the wounded man to the hospital. According to another watchman in company with the wounded man at the time of the accident, the latter was cleaning his revolver preparatory to going on duty when it accidentally went off lodging a bullet in his abdomen.

The crowd outside the Chartered Bank was so great that traffic for some little time was rendered practically impossible.

THEATRE ROYAL.WARWICK COMEDY COMPANY.*"UNCLE NED" TO-NIGHT.

The Warwick Comedy Company, which arrived yesterday from Singapore, will open its season at the Theatre Royal to-night with the first performance here of Douglas Murray's latest success, "Uncle Ned," which had such a good run recently at the St. James' Theatre.

Mr. Edgar Warwick will play the title role. Miss Jean Mayne, of whom excellent reports have been heard, is the leading lady. Mr. Thorpe Mayne, who to-morrow night plays the lead in "The Law Divine," will to-night be seen in a fine character role. Miss Marjory Clark, a clever young actress, will play the role of a delightfully irresponsible fiddler. Miss Dorothy Radford, Mr. Dudley Howarth, and Mr. Tom Fenwick, complete a brilliant cast.

The plans are at Moutrie's until 5 o'clock and at the Theatre from 8.30 p.m. The performance will start at 9.15 sharp.

CHINESE EMPEROR.ALLEGED BETROTHAL.*AN AUTHENTIC DENIAL.

Peking, Nov. 21.—Newspapers in the capital both Chinese-owned and foreign-edited have recently been giving currency to the story that the Imperial family have been dunning the Government for a huge sum of their allowances in arrears in order to defray expenses connected with the Emperor's marriage. So big a sum as $1,500,000 has been mentioned. Such statements are entirely without foundation.

It is of course true that the payments to the Manchus are much in arrears and that money is none too plentiful in the Forbidden City. But I understand that a fair proportion of the allowances have been paid, and that no complaints of any kind have emanated from the Palace especially in view of the known financial stringency and of the terrible want caused by the famine.

It is authoritatively stated that not only is there no demand for money in connection with the marriage of the Emperor, but that all reports even of his betrothal are devoid of truth. This question is not likely to engage the attention of the Imperial family for some years to come.

NEW SHANGHAI BANK.PACIFIC COMMERCIAL.*SINO-AMERICAN CONCERN.

Another Sino-American Bank is shortly to be organized by a number of Chinese and American capitalists. The Pacific Commercial Bank, for such will be the name of the new bank, will be a limited institution with its head office in Shanghai and branches in outposts and foreign countries. It will have a capital of G. $5,000,000 in 50,000 shares of G. $100 each, one half, at least, of which must be owned by Chinese. There will be 11 members on the Board of Governors, five of whom will be Americans and six Chinese. They will hold office for a period of five years. The managing director will be a Chinese, the manager an American, and a Chinese will be the assistant manager.

Among those interested in the new concern are Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, former U.S. Minister to China; Mr. Chow Tze-chi, Minister of Finance; Mr. Wong Koke-shan, former general manager of the Han Yeh Ping Company; Mr. Li Yuk-chi, former commander of Messrs. Dodwell & Co.; Mr. Li Sun-ting, the well-known writer, and others.

CARGO PILFERING.KOWLOON DOCK THEFTS.*TWO MEN SENTENCED.

"I picked it up from the deck of a ship under the impression that it was not wanted," said a cargo coolie to Magistrate Orme this morning when charged with the theft of several pieces of white lining cloth found tied round his legs when he was searched before leaving the Kowloon godowns.

Inspector Spear, who prosecuted, said that the shirt was identical with a cargo which was being discharged from a ship. Several boxes of this cargo had been broken open and the contents pilfered.

Sentence of one month's hard labour was passed.

Another Chinese who was charged with the theft of two waterproof coats, which formed part of a cargo being discharged at the Kowloon godowns from the s.s. "Sicilia," admitted the offence, and was sent to jail for six weeks with hard labour.

GREEK CRISIS

LONDON, December 5th.
In the House of Commons, Mr. Bonar Law, explaining the Note to Athens, declared that the Allies had no intention of resorting to the use of force.
LONDON, December 5th.
A grave Allied communication to Greece shows a concord of views based on a common premise. The previous divergent opinions are pivoting round the question of the return of Constantinople to Athens. It is pointed out that, so far, there is no reference to the question of the revision of the Treaty of Sevres which is intimately connected with the dynamic problem. The Allied statement is considered equally a warning to the electors, in view of the forthcoming plebiscite, and to Constantinople, whose restoration will almost inevitably lead to sowing the seeds of civil war.
Reuter states that Mr. Lloyd-George, Mr. Leygues, and Signor Stora will to-day confer on the situation in connection with the interests in the East, regarding which they are maintaining a free hand, if Constantinople re-ascends.
Should, however, the plebiscite decide in favour of the Crown Prince, the Allies will probably secure guarantees for the protection of Allied interests according to the attitude he adopts.

The Allied Premiers have decided to send Greece a Note declaring that the return of Constantinople to the Throes would create a new and unfavourable situation in the relations of Greece and the Allies.

LONDON, December 4th.
Reuter learns that a further conference on the Greek question between the three Allied Premiers is likely to be held in Paris a fortnight hence.
French circles are of opinion that this period is long enough to satisfy the desire of Mr. Lloyd George that the new regime in Greece should be given a fair trial before it is condemned.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, December 4th.
The Chinese Minister, in an article in the Daily Mail, refers to the desirability of encouraging the presence of Chinese students in Great Britain, and shows that when they go home all may be regarded as "Missionaries of Empire." Mr. Alfred Sze says that the British Foreign Office is thoroughly sympathetic, and realises the importance of the question. He hopes that a similar system could be established here as in the United States works, return home to join the American branches in China.
The Daily Mail supports the views, and says that China, perhaps, offers the most magnificent market in the world, and believes that it would equally pay the British manufacturers to follow the United States' example. The journal shows that there are only about 270 Chinese students in England, as compared with some thousands in the United States, and submits that this should be changed.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

FIRST DIVISION.

Wills.....	3	"Tamar".....	2
Kowloon.....	1	"Carlisle".....	0
H.K. Club.....	0	R.G.A.....	0
S. China.....	1	Police.....	1

In spite of the wet weather on Saturday, every match down for decision was played off in the presence of a plentiful sprinkling of spectators. The ground was rendered very greasy by the rain, and whilst this state of affairs suited the Club and perhaps the Wills, the majority of the players found it difficult to play up to their usual form.

WILLS v. "TAMAR"

Played on the Sookumpoo Ground, this match was controlled by Mr. Jones as referee. The Wills, kicked off and lost no time in visiting enemy territory only to find the Sailors' defence ready. After a bit of mid-field play, the Sailors again attacked, this time with success, Swanborough putting his side one up. After this the Wills, pressed very strongly and though the Sailors' defence put up a grand show, the Sailors refused to be kept out and were soon two goals up, Menahem being responsible.

The Sailors lived up to the second half. From the kick off they broke through and scored, Bennett putting the ball into the net. For some minutes of play after this, the Sailors' defence had to work like Trojans to keep their goal secure, the Sailors playing hard for an equalizer. From a breakaway the Sailors then scored third goal, and though the "Tamar" scored in reply and were all out for the third and equalizing goal, luck was against them, the final whistle going with the Sailors winners by the odd goal in five.

KOWLOON v. "CARLISLE"

The "Carlisle" kicked off, and the ball going to the Kowloon forwards, was carried towards the Sailors' goal; the "Carlisle" defence cleared to their forwards. The Kowloon goal was then visited but Crooke was ready and saved an easy shot. After this exchange of counter-attacks play became very uninteresting, both teams finding the slippery ground, the rain and the wind too much for them. Half time came with no score.

Play became more brisk in the second half, Kowloon being first to attack. The Navy Goalie saved a dangerous shot, but conceded a corner which the Kowloon forwards failed to take advantage of. The Sailors then took the offensive, a promising movement being spoiled by offside. Play was very even at this juncture, and the football was quite good considering the weather. Both Goalies had plenty to work to keep them warm, both lots of forwards trying repeatedly for goal. After a smart run, Taylor, playing inside right for Kowloon, shot. The Sailors' goalkeeper saved, but was too slow in clearing, Clemon ran in and put the ball into the net. This was the only goal scored, although the Sailors had hard lines in not equalizing after this, Crocker, the Kowloon goalie being called on to save repeatedly. Mr. Cheesley was referee.

H.K. CLUB v. R.G.A.

There was quite a respectable gate for this match, as it was expected to be a good game. It came up to expectations, although it would have been far more satisfactorily fought out if the weather and grounds had been dry.

The Club lost the toss and kicked off without being able to get past the Gunners' defence. The Sailors then attacked, but put weakly behind. The Club forwards next made effort to pierce their opponents' defence, but the Gunners held firm, half-backs played a very hard game and try as they could the Club, who were at this period very nervous, could not break through. Finally the Gunners broke away, Watson having very hard lines with a shot which Rodger just got to.

in time, having to give a corner away in so doing. This was badly taken, the ball being put behind. From the kick out the Club secured and attacked, but the ball was sent back and the Sailors attacked once more; their forwards however, failed to find the net. The play, became fast and both teams played with combination, but were weak in front of goal. Half time saw the score sheets blank.

The Club were first to get going in the second half and for a time it looked as if the Sailors' goal would be conquered, but after some exciting escapes, the ball went into mid-field and the Club goal had a narrow escape, a corner being forced, but without result. Full time went with neither team having scored, a very even game ruling throughout.

ATHLETIC v. POLICE

The crowd to see this match was, in view of the inclemency of the weather, remarkably large and a good indication of the hold football has taken on local Chinese.

The Athletic went away from the kick off, but although their combination was sound and their speed well up to their best form, they could not pass the Police defence, who held together very well. After forcing a corner the Chinese nearly scored, Billyer just managing to clear. This was repeated soon afterwards, the Chinese, after a bit of mid-field play forcing a corner but failing to convert. The attack then veered and the Police had two or three shots at goal, only to find the Chinese Goalie in form and ready. The shooting of both sides of forwards was below average, and half-time went with no score.

Evenly contested from the beginning of the second half, the match ended in a 1-1 goal draw, the Chinese scoring first and the Police replying not long afterwards.

Mr. Wells refereed.

UNITED v. PUNJABIS.

The United proved too strong for their opponents and scored 8 with two replies from the Punjabis. The latter, however, were game to the last, and managed to keep the scores 8-2 against them in the first half.

Mr. Drayton was referee.

OILERS v. RECREIO.

The Oilers were out for a win on Saturday, and it certainly proved a bad day for the Recreio who went down badly with a 6-0 defeat. The weather and ground suited the Oilers but the Recreio were all at sea, their combination and shooting being poor.

Mr. Omar was referee.

ST. JOSEPH'S v. KOWLOON.

Kowloon, who up to Saturday occupied a sound position on the Second League table, spoilt their standing somewhat by dropping two points to St. Joseph's. The match was very evenly contested, the College playing a more combined and effective game, with the Kowloon forwards proving weak in front of goal. The College led by two goals at half time, and although Kowloon tried hard in the second half they could not prevent their opponents in scoring another two in the second half—this being the final score.

INDIANS v. ATHLETIC.

This was about the best of the Second Division matches played on Saturday. After a well contested game the Indians walked off winners by two clear goals. The Indians were more on the aggressive right through the match, but the display of football put up by the Chinese defence was quite brilliant and the Chinese had the satisfaction of going down to a better team.

Mr. Sambells was in charge.

R.G.A. v. CARLISLE.

This match was played at the Sookumpoo Valley and resulted in a win for the R.G.A. by the odd goal in three. The ground was in very bad condition and the play was not fast, the players not being able to control a greasy and very heavy ball. Mr. Jones was referee.

STAFFS v. CLUB RES.

This was played on the Club Ground at 2.30. A fair sprinkling of spectators were in the Stand. The ground was not in good condition and the wet ball lowered the tone of play of both teams. At times, however, both teams seemed to wake up and some good football was witnessed. There was no score in the first half. But the Staffs scored early in the second. The Club tried hard to equalize and all but did so several times.

The referee was Mr. Hollands.
"Ox Sap."

LEAGUE CRICKET.

CRAIGENGOWER AND UNIVERSITY DRAW.

Owing to the rain on Saturday, most of the cricket matches were postponed, and only one was seen at the Valley, where the Craiggengower C.C., were at home to the University. Craiggengower played very well, and but for the intervention of time, would have inflicted a severe defeat on the visitors. The match would have been played to a finish but for the late start owing to the wet condition of the ground. F.G. Thompson scored a beautifully compiled 80 for the home team and was not out when the innings was declared closed.

GARRISON LEAGUE.

As a result of the bad weather during the summer months, several teams dropping out of the competition, an unsatisfactory position was revealed at a meeting of this league called recently to decide the advisability or otherwise of finishing the league season. As the Staff and Departments, 88th Company R.G.A., Royal Engineers, and R.A.M.C., were the teams topping the league table, and all were keen on playing to a finish, it was decided that these four teams should compete for championship honours. As the result of the draw, the R.G.A. were pitted against the Staffs and the R.E. against the R.A.M.C., the winners of these matches, to meet in the final round.

The R.G.A. v. Staffs match which was played at Happy Valley on Friday afternoon, resulted in a strong Artillery team defeating the Staffs. Davis (R.G.A.) had the misfortune to injure his leg early in the match, and was only a passenger for the rest of the game, being hardly able to stand. However, Major Hickling, playing a steady and deadly game, brought the score to 5-4 in favour of the Artillery, and eventually won the set. Davis retired in the second set, and the Staffs very sportingly allowed Q.M.S. Smith to finish the game for him. The Artillery won without much effort, and will now meet the winner of the R.E. v. R.A.M.C. match in the final.

The scores were—
Lieut. Colonel Loring and Captain Oliver beat Major Humphreys and Major Carter 6-3; beat Lieut.

Colonel Nicholson and Mr. Shewell 7-2; beat S. M. Carter and S. M. McCarthy 7-2.

Major Hickling and S. Sgt. Davis beat S. M. Carter and S. M. McCarthy 8-4; beat Major Humphreys and Major Carter 5-4; and Major Hickling and Q.M.S. Smith lost to Lieut. Col. Nicholson and Mr. Shewell 6-5.

Capt. Davies and CSM. Pragnall beat Major Humphreys and Major Carter 5-4; beat Lieut. Col. Nicholson and Mr. Shewell 6-3; beat S.M. Carter and S.M. McCarthy 5-4.

Total—88th Co. R.G.A. 53. Staff and Departments 28.

LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP.

The draw for the Ladies' Golf Championship resulted as follows:—Byes, Miss Lowe and Mrs. Pearce; Miss Healing v. Mrs. Humphreys; Mrs. Winslow v. Mrs. Moore; Miss Smith v. Mrs. Jackson; Mrs. Drew v. Mrs. Maitland; Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Morrison, byes. First round to be played by December 17th.

For the Woodhouse Cup (Ladies' foursomes, match play), Fanning his course will be available except on Wednesdays, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. Entries close at Fanning on December 23.

SCOTLAND v. THE REST.

The Scotland v. The Rest golf match was played at Fanning yesterday, and resulted in a very decisive victory for the Rest who were 5 up in the morning and 69 in the Four-somes in the afternoon.

An interesting incident in the match was the defeat of this year's champion, Mr. R. L. D. Woodhouse, by Mr. Crawford Morgan, who was defeated by the champion in the semi-final of the championship by 1 up. Mr. Morgan defeated Mr. Woodhouse yesterday by 5 and 4 to play.

PEACE MOVE IN IRELAND.

LONDON, December 4th.—A series of small facts tends to harden the impression in Parliamentary circles that communication is being established between the Government and Sinn Féin. It seems beyond doubt that Mr. Arthur Henderson, leader of the British Labour Commission in Ireland, has at least an informal understanding from Mr. Lloyd George to visit to Irish peace. It is noteworthy that Mr. Henderson and Mr. Adamson interviewed Mr. Arthur Griffith at Mount Joy (Gaelic) on the 2nd inst. and also visited Archbishop Walsh at the latter's residence. Archbishop Walsh is reported to have said that any efforts towards the cessation of provocative acts will receive the support of the Catholic hierarchy.

LONDON, December 2nd.—The sensational stories recently circulating attributing to the Government the intention of sending a military force to Ireland to suppress the disturbances in the House of Commons, by Mr. Denis Henry.

Repeating to Viscount Curzon, M.P. for Battersea, Mr. Henry said that, judging by the tone of the report and from information obtained, Irish-American gunmen had not come into Ireland to any great extent.

LONDON, December 2nd.—Countess Markiewicz, the Sinn Féin member of Parliament, appeared at a court-martial in Dublin today, charged with conspiracy in connection with the murder of police and troops and unlawful dealing of recruits of the Republican Army.

LONDON, December 3rd.—Archbishop Mannix has been prohibited from carrying out his intention to proceed to Manchester or elsewhere on the Mersey-side.

LONDON, December 4th.—A patrol of five police officers was ambushed at Lough Linnane. A sergeant was seriously wounded.

The Irish leaders of the movement have requested the Lord Mayor of Dublin to intervene in the matter. The request is interpreted as meaning that the movement is a daily daily movement, owing to the refusal to carry munitions and are now willing to return to work.

A military patrol ordered three suspects to halt near Bandon. The men ran off and were fired on. All were killed. Each man carried a revolver.

During a gale a wall collapsed in Belfast, killing three.

LONDON, December 4th.—The latest arrests in Dublin include those of Mr. Joseph Patrick O'Connell, M.P., and Captain White, one of the leaders of the Loyalist (Sir George White).

LONDON, December 3rd.—Drastic changes were made in the Government of Ireland Bill by the House of Lords sitting in Committee, by the adoption of amendments, in the House, by 120 votes to 36, agreed to an amendment to create a Senate in Southern Ireland, in order to safeguard the interests of the Unionists, after the Lord Chancellor, on behalf of the Government had opposed it and declared that it would destroy the representative character of the First Chamber. A similar amendment, providing a similar Senate for Northern Ireland was then carried with a division, also an amendment, by 48 votes to 34, in spite of the Lord Chancellor's assurance that the Council of Ireland, provided by the Bill, will consist of the two foregoing Senates. The Lord Chancellor said that a big hole had been made in the Bill and doubted whether the whole measure would survive.

U.S. IMMIGRATION.

LONDON, December 2nd.—The Chairman of the Immigration Committee of the House of Representatives has submitted to the Committee a Bill prohibiting immigration for two years, except in the case of relatives of American citizens or relatives of aliens in the United States who have given an undertaking to become naturalized.

MEXICAN PLOT.

NEW YORK, December 2nd.—A telegram from San Antonio, Texas, states that raids by officials of the Department of Justice at various points of the Mexican border have resulted in the discovery of a mass of documentary evidence of a new revolutionary plot to overthrow the government of Mexico.

WASHINGTON, December 4th.—Mr. Bainbridge Colby has formally proposed to the Provisional President, Don De La Huerta, the first to embrace him, diplomats representing all nations attended, including the Charges d'Affaires of Japan and China.

PROTECTING KEY INDUSTRY.

LONDON, December 2nd.—The Government has introduced a bill in the House of Commons to protect the British Drystuff Industry. The Bill empowers the President of the Board of Trade to exclude the importation of foreign drystuffs, except under license.

LANCASHIRE ON SHORT TIME.

LONDON, December 3rd.—The numbers of the unemployed in England have been increased as a result of a fall of the employers in the Lancashire Cotton Trade. The decision, reached to reduce the weekly working hours from 48 to 24. About 100,000 operatives are affected. A delegation, representing employers and employees, will wait upon Dr. Macdonald at the Ministry of Labour on December 6th to urge State action to diminish the hardships of unemployment.

CONDITION OF CENTRAL EUROPE.

MILAN, December 3rd.—It is reported here that the Austrian Federal Government has removed emergency on exports to the former enemy countries, chiefly in order to allow the export of wool. The prohibition of imports, however, remains in force.

COMMONS DEBATE ECONOMY.

LONDON, December 3rd.—A discussion regarding Government extravagance was raised in the House of Commons on a supplementary vote of £23,000 for establishment expenses in connection with the Ministry of Food. Although the "Food Controller," Mr. McArthur, said that the estimate represented the expense of winding-up the Department and that drastic economies had brought it down to the stated figure, Sir Donald Maclean, leader of the Opposition, moved a resolution in the estimate declaring that the Ministry, like Charles II, was an "unconscionable time in dying." Sir D. Maclean pointed out that the headquarters staff alone cost £150,000 and urged that it was desirable to return to Free Trade, and that the best preliminary was to get rid of the Ministry of Food. (Labour dissent.)

Various (opposition) urged the abolition of the Food Ministry as a move towards Government economy.

The motion for a reduction in the Estimate was defeated by 58 votes to 60, the Labour Members voting with the Government. The minority consisted of Ministers and Independent Liberals.

INCREASE OF PILFERING.

LONDON, December 2nd.—A Committee on pilferage appointed by the London Chamber of Commerce has written to the Home Secretary requesting him to receive a deputation which wishes to emphasize the alarming growth of pilfering from cargoes to and from steamers.

The losses from this source have increased 2,000 per cent. since 1913. One shipping company declares that it is losing £250,000 annually in this way.

The Committee has also written to the Home Secretary requesting him to receive a deputation which wishes to emphasize the alarming growth of pilfering from cargoes to and from steamers.

FAMOUS TAPESTRIES.

ROMANTIC STORY.

DUKE OF RUTLAND'S GOBELINS.

It is announced that the Duke of Rutland is prepared to sell his famous set of Don Quixote Gobelin tapestries, worth, it is estimated, £200,000.

The tapestries, which are in the Regent's Room at Belvoir Castle, near Grantham, Lincs, were made specially for Louis XV. at the famous factory in the Faubourg St. Marcel, Paris.

"They have been on sale tentatively for some little while," the Duchess of Rutland told a Weekly Dispatch representative. "Several offers have been made for them, but they are such a perfect set that a high price must necessarily be set upon them. Some idea of their value may be gathered from the fact that Mr. Pierpont Morgan paid £90,000 for four Gobelins, not so good as these."

"How they came into possession of our family makes a romantic story. In 1789 John Henry, the fifth Duke of Rutland, married the Lady Elizabeth Howard, daughter of the fifth Earl of Carlisle. Part of their honeymoon they spent in Paris, and while there the duke saw the tapestries and managed to buy them."
